

Robert L. Sip, Environmental Policy Specialist
Minnesota Department of Agriculture

Robert Sip grew up on a small grains and livestock farm in Northwest Minnesota. He holds MS, BS and AAS degrees in Natural Resources Management from North Dakota State University and the University of Minnesota.

Robert has approximately 20 years of combined experience at both the local and state levels regarding water management and policy, natural resources economics and policy, conservation implementation and regulation. He is currently the water policy specialist for the Minnesota Department of Agriculture.