David is the Executive Director of the Crown Law Analysis & Development Branch of the Manitoba Department of Justice and has been with the Department working on criminal law policy issues for the last 21 years. In that role, he provides research, analysis, options, recommendations and assistance to the Minister of Justice, Deputy Minister of Justice and the department in general on civil and criminal law related issues. He also coordinates the Department's response to legal and justice system issues having cross-divisional, cross-government or intergovernmental implications and represents the Department on Federal/Provincial/Territorial (FPT) law reform committees, such as the Coordinating Committee of Senior Officials (Criminal Justice).

Prior to joining the Department, David was a practicing lawyer, specializing in criminal, family law and civil litigation.
